Coinbase rumors

While this isn't a great for a number of reasons (brings up the pay-to-play discussions, brings up concerns that XRP is a security), it was certainly a big factor in what people attributed the price rise. I feel we would be remiss if we didn't at least mention it. (Though we can work to phrase this appropriately.)

[REDACTED]
I would prefer not to include this. We dont comment on speculation and I wouldn't want this in there.

Except that just prior to this tweet, XRP had been at its all time high, and this tweet represented, without any exaggeration, the very beginning of XRP's retracement in value. Coinmarketcap.com shows XRP at a high of $3.84 on January 4th, with a close that day of $3.20, a -16.7% decline just that day. XRP price has not approached this high price again.

(The XRP price on Bitstamp had a high that day of $3.33, which we typically use given it does not include the Korean exchange prices.)

there is already enough in this report. This one feels weird to mention. I would rather strike it.

Ripple

If we did this in Q1, it feels like news. I think a lot of people will grab on to this and want to know more about this.
